

Many Polish people decide to move abroad nowadays.

Write an essay giving advantages and disadvantages of such a decision looking at this problem from different angles.

Many Polish people decide to move abroad nowadays. Although it is said to be a great solution to the majority of problems people have to face with, it still has some significant disadvantages.

On the one hand leaving your native land can probably solve some problems. First of all, moving abroad is, in the most of cases, caused by poor Polish worktrade conditions. As a result, people try to search for a job somewhere else in order to improve their life status. Secondly, living in a foreign country is a splendid opportunity to meet its culture, travel a lot and, needless to say, learn language or even more than one language, which is said to broaden your mind. What is more, looking from more economical point of view should some people leave Poland, there will be more workplaces for the others, who do not fancy moving abroad.

On the other hand, moving to another country is not always such a perfect plan, there are also some cons of this issue. Firstly, not everyone is going to get used to unknown country, culture and foreigners surrounding him. It is truly difficult, especially when you are not well prepared to what is about to happen to you in a new place of living. What is more, you are likely to spoil your former contacts with friends and family which could be very upsetting for those who are quite attached to their relatives. Finally, foreigners often get the worst jobs possible. By saying that, I mean the poorest paid ones, such as waiters and babysitters. It is very common nowadays. So popular it is that it becomes more and more difficult to find a person from a foreign country on significant and well-paid workplace.

To sum up, considering all advantages and disadvantages, it seems that moving abroad is a suitable idea for some people and for the others it would not be the best thing to do. Looks like it depends on personality.